

Attainment of POs and COs are evaluated.

Learning requires cognitive skills and a logical paradigm. The process of learning should ideally weigh on “how to think” more than “what to think”. Courses offered by our institution invoke a sense of creativity, curiosity, self-assertion, self-reflection, and enhance career prospects. Our courses cater to students’ abilities to foster critical thinking and a sense of inquisitiveness, leading to the assimilation and analysis and forming ideas thereafter. These skills are essential in honing the students’ personalities which also helps them flourish in their professional lives. The modern market demands individuals who can work smartly and deliver maximum output. The way our courses shape the students up, they will most certainly be the forerunners for success in the market today.

In order to assess the efficacy of the courses, our institution evaluates them on certain markers which are mentioned hereafter:

- Whether they enable the students to think in an advanced manner in their concerned discipline?
- Whether they augment the cognitive skills and logical paradigm of the students?
- Whether they enable the students to serve the society?
- Whether they enhance the independent thinking, decision making leadership qualities in the students?
- Whether they prepare students for collaborative working?
- Whether they enhance the interpersonal and communication skills of students?
- Whether they help to develop a mindset of growth and adaptability in the students?
- Whether they engage students in co-curricular activities like students' seminars, presentations, quizzes etc.?

Since our college strictly follows Outcome Based Education (OBE), it involves departmental processes for assessment, identification, collection, and preparation of data to evaluate Course Outcomes (COs). The process of determining COs employs various tools and methods, which can be categorized into direct and indirect methods.

Direct methods showcase students' knowledge and skills through various assessment tests, CIA, practicals, laboratory assignments and projects, providing a comprehensive understanding of their abilities and learning progress.

The direct methods which the college follows enable it to evaluate students' knowledge and skills in a comprehensive manner. Assessment tests are one of the common methods used by the college to measure students' understanding of a subject or topic. These tests typically consist of objective questions, such as multiple-choice, true/false, or fill in the blanks, designed to assess factual knowledge and comprehension.

In addition to assessments tests, Continuous Internal Assessments (CIAs) are also conducted twice every semester for P.G. It plays a crucial role in evaluating students' progress throughout a course or program. CIA includes assignments, quizzes, presentations, or group discussions, allowing students to demonstrate their understanding and application of concepts in a more interactive and dynamic way. The Internal Assessment marks in a theory paper are determined by taking into consideration the average of two semester-long tests, continuously assessing the COs.

Practical assessments are also part of the evaluation of the attainment goals. They provide students with hands-on experience and assess their ability to apply theoretical knowledge in a real-world context. These assessments involve performing tasks or experiments related to the subject matter wherein students demonstrate practical skills, problem-solving abilities, and critical thinking. These Laboratory assignments are a direct method that enable students to engage in practical, experiential work involving conducting experiments, data analysis, and drawing conclusions. It provides students with an opportunity to work independently or in groups, fostering collaboration and enhancing their scientific inquiry skills. Lab Assignment/Experiment is a tool for evaluating students' practical knowledge and problem-solving skills, requiring a minimum of few experiments per lab course (the no. varies in different course).

Projects are also assigned to the students. It is a comprehensive assessment that encourage students to apply their knowledge and skills to complete a significant task or solve a real-world problem. Since projects often require students to conduct research, analyze data, develop solutions, and present their findings or deliverables. Projects allow students to showcase their creativity, critical thinking, communication, and project management skills.

Home Assignments are given to assess students' analytical and problem-solving abilities, assigning course-related tasks and evaluating performance. Grades are based on innovation in problem-solving.

Presentation metrics assess students' communication and subject knowledge, while seminars cover current topics or in-depth core courses, ensuring students' understanding and engagement.

End-semester examinations (theory and practical) are used to assess COs, using descriptive questions. End Semester Examinations focus more on attainment of all COs and use descriptive questions.

By using these diverse direct methods, faculty members gain a comprehensive understanding of their students' abilities. These assessments provide valuable insights into students' learning progress, strengths, and areas for improvement. Moreover, they promote active learning, engagement, and the development of essential skills necessary for success in academics and beyond.

The institution also uses Indirect methods like course exit surveys and examiner feedback. These methods are used to evaluate students' learning experiences and opinions about their knowledge or skills.

These indirect methods provide valuable insights into students' learning experiences and perceptions of their own knowledge and skills. By gathering feedback through course exit surveys, the institution assesses various aspects of the learning process, such as the efficacy of the curriculum, instructional methods, and the overall learning environment. This information is crucial for institutions to identify areas of improvement and make informed decisions for enhancing the educational experience.

Through various training programs, workshops, and seminars, the Placement Cell enhances the students' employability quotient. These initiatives focus on imparting technical skills, communication skills, problem-solving abilities, and industry-specific knowledge. By offering guidance on resume writing, interview techniques, and professional etiquette, the Placement Cell empowers students to showcase their potential effectively.

Furthermore, the Placement Cell establishes a strong network with reputed companies and organizations. It actively collaborates with these entities to arrange campus recruitment drives and internships, where students can interact directly with industry professionals and showcase their talents. This invaluable exposure helps students gain insights into the industry's expectations and trends, enabling them to align their career aspirations accordingly.

Course exit surveys are conducted at the end of a program, allowing students to reflect on their learning journey, including content, teaching methods, assessment methods, and program organization. These responses help institutions identify trends and patterns and aim to identify factors for future strategy framing and understand the impact of training on value-added courses and pre-placement training.

Examiner feedback is also taken by the institution, which is crucial for evaluating students' learning experiences, providing constructive criticism and helping them understand their strengths and weaknesses, enabling them to improve their knowledge and skills for future courses or programs.

Course exit surveys and examiner feedback help institutions understand student perspectives, identify areas for improvement, and make necessary modifications to curriculum, teaching methodologies, and assessments, ensuring that the educational experience meets the student's needs and expectations.

Indirect methods of assessment contribute to quality assurance by assessing the efficacy of educational programs, ensuring that institutions maintain high standards and continuously enhance student learning experiences, thus enhancing overall quality of education.

The objective of this type of assessment is to gather diverse data on the COs from the students who have completed the entire course by the end of the semester.

An alumni survey is also conducted as a crucial assessment tool for evaluating the relevance of curriculum to industry skills and the attainment of program goals. Employer surveys are conducted to assess if the knowledge and skills learned from the institution meets one's expectations.

Some other measures to assess attainment of Pos and Cos

Students' Feedback on curriculum and other related aspects concerning the attainment of the POs and COs

The aforementioned claims are testified through feedback received from students via an empirical survey conducted among them.

College of Commerce, Arts & Science conducts Student Satisfaction Survey on a yearly basis to collect feedback from students about the total satisfaction in the college and its infrastructural facilities and also the teaching learning process of the college. This feedback is conducted among students of the college through direct questionnaire method. The students were permitted to remain anonymous to receive frank responses. Teacher uses total 24 questions, which provides a detail overview in the context of teaching learning system of the college.

Total students participated in the survey: 1551

Areas Covered:

The following broad areas were covered in the satisfaction survey:

1. Evaluation of Teaching learning Process
2. Skill Competencies during the Course
3. Institutional facilities

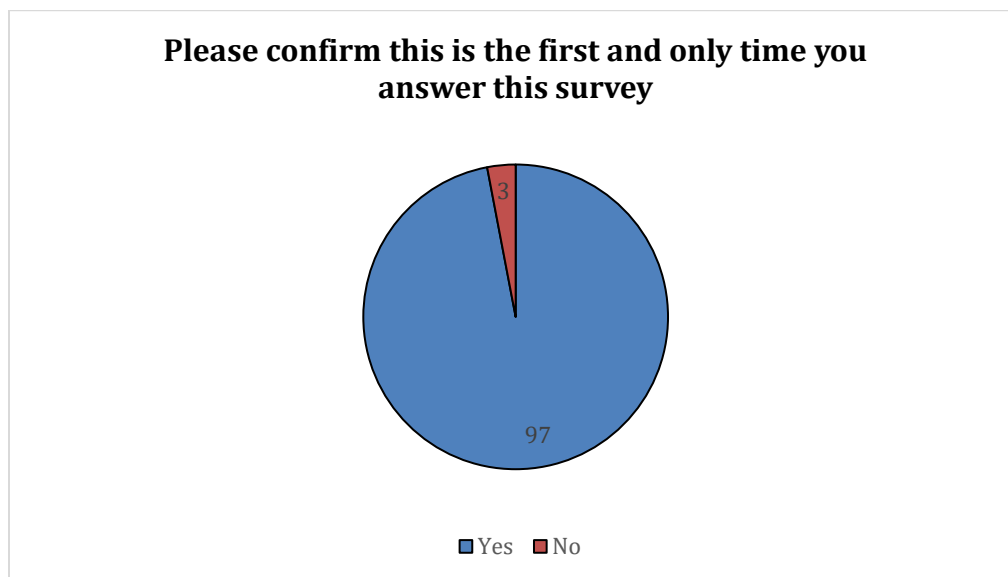

Research Method:

A student satisfaction survey created by the IQAC team members and was circulated amongst students of all Under Graduate and Post Graduate students across all disciplines offered by the college. With combined efforts of teachers and students' the survey received 1551 responses in total. The survey was initiated via Google form. It was an anonymous survey, however, an option of providing "student name" had been provided.

The following were the instructions to fill the survey:

The form will take 5 to 10 minutes to fill. The results of the survey will be used for improving the experience of college students”. Further, the form covered four major areas which foreground concerns such as Evaluation of Teaching learning Process, Skill competencies during the course and Institutional facilities. Each of these broad areas were further divided into subcategories highlighting related concerns.

97% of the respondents are submitting this survey for the first time.

Suggestions to improve the overall teaching – learning experience in our institution.

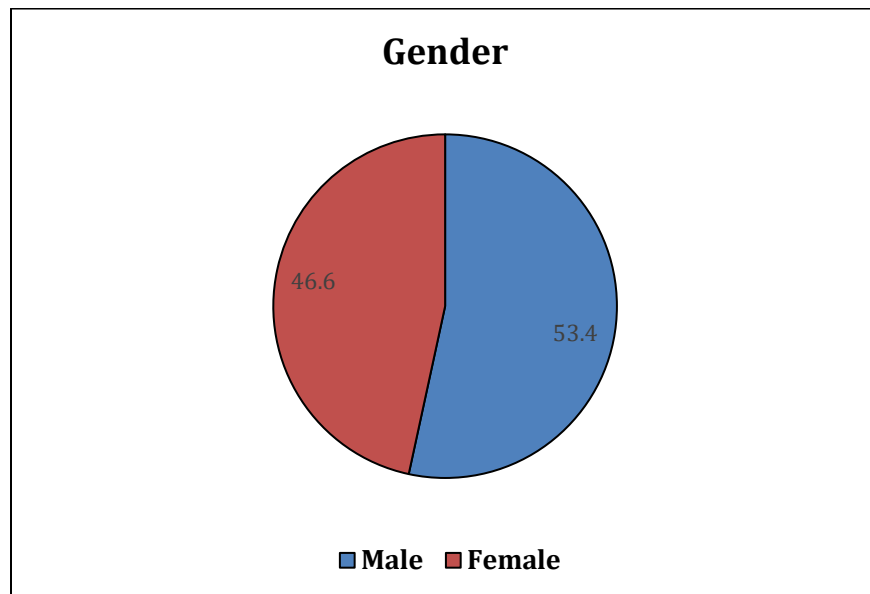

A request by students is the formulation of syllabi that bridges the gap between theory and Practical, offering opportunities for field experiences, hands-on learning, skill development, and more professionally oriented programmes like Data Analytics, programming languages, econometric analysis, etc., that shall enable them to participate in the workplace. More placement opportunities and information on future career options to aid field selection were also requested. In this respect we are trying our best to catch it up soon.

Another insight that can be recuperated from the responses is the demand for a broaderteaching pedagogy in sync with global standards that is customized to the individual needs of students with greater emphasis on discussion-based, well-paced teaching. Rethinking evaluation methods, formulating assignments and projects that test creative and analytical ability is the need of the hour. Readings and other study material should be compact and made accessible to students in an organized manner. We always share pdfs and study material for Online classes.

Annual review of syllabi, with constant updating of course material to match contemporary trends, subject material contextualized to the Indian framework, and a re-evaluation of paper sequencing across semesters, was also much-voiced feedback. Moreover, students would like to be considered and included as decision-makers when syllabus is revised so that their needs are reflected in the final approved structure along with other stakeholders. An intersectional approach to syllabus, with incorporation of history, historiography, mythmaking in relevant disciplines should be adopted. Some students also highlighted the desire for more comprehensive and detailed engagement with certain topics and subjects, with training in writing research papers, so that they may prepare better for further specializations in the discipline.

Out of the total responses 46.6% are female and 53.4% are males.

34.1% students are pursuing Masters out of 1551 responses. 56.7% are pursuing graduation. Rest other students are from Ph.D. and other categories (Students from vocational and add on course).

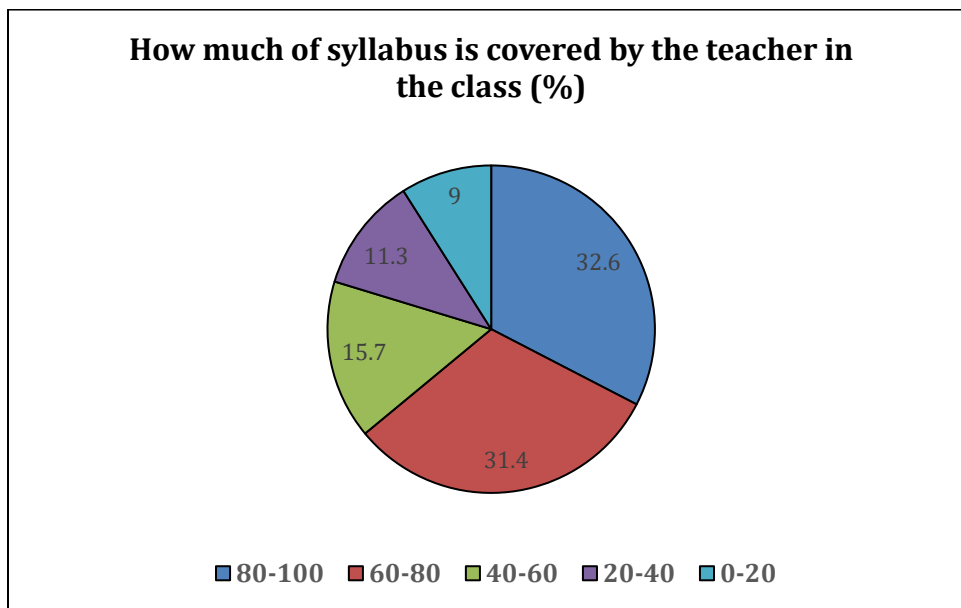

44.8% are from Arts, followed by 38.2 % of total responses are from science and rest other were from commerce, Professional courses and other.

Criterion II – Teaching–Learning and Evaluation

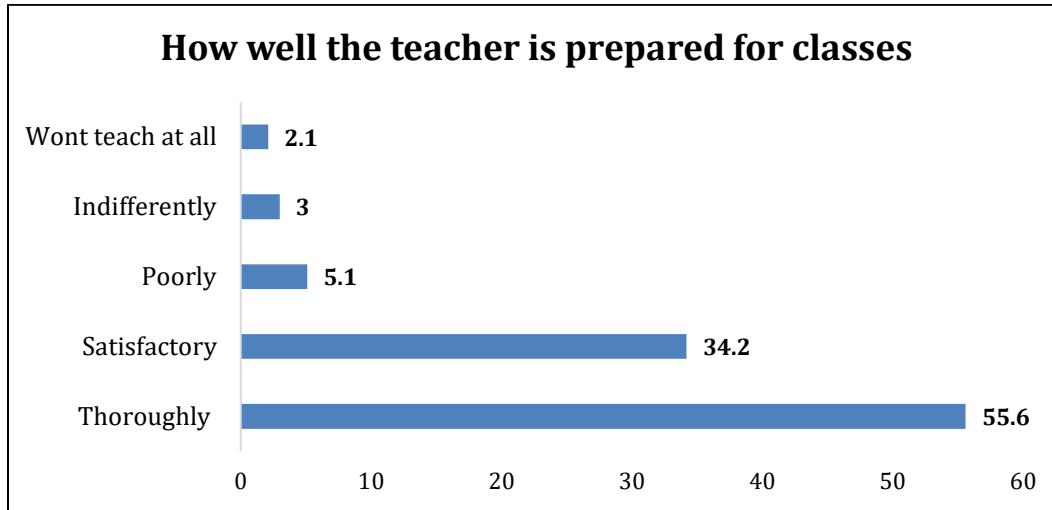

1. How much of the syllabus was covered in the class?

1,551 responses

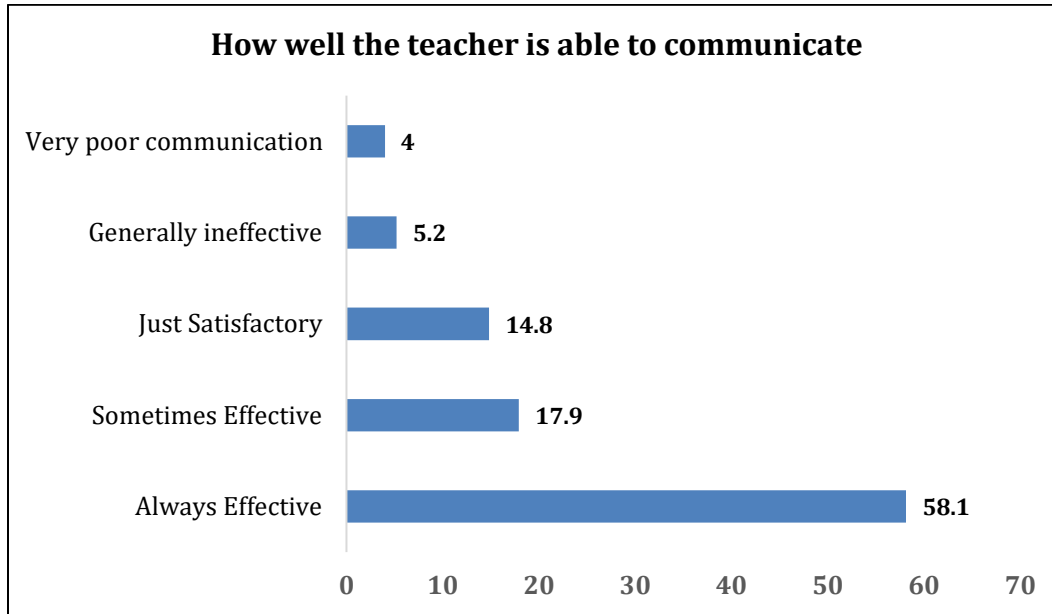

- Approximately 9% indicated that the syllabus coverage was below 20%.
- About 11.3% suggested that the coverage was between 20 to 40%.
- Around 15.7% reported that the syllabus coverage ranged from 40% to 60%.
- Roughly 31.4% indicated that the coverage fell between 60% and 80%.
- Finally, the largest portion, approximately 32.6%, stated that the syllabus coverage reached 100%.

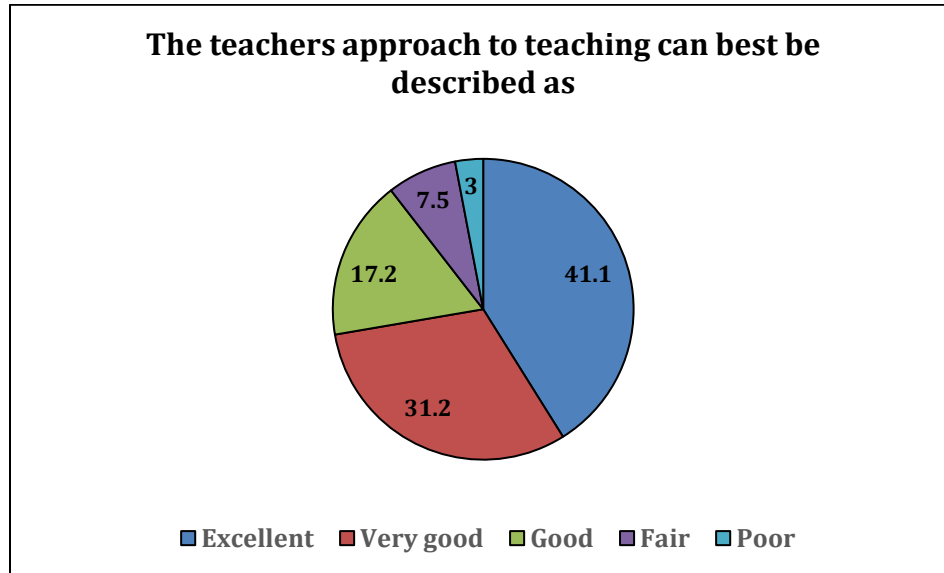

Majority students commented that syllabus coverage is more than 90%. Positive Comment

- Approximately 2.1% of respondents indicated that teachers "won't teach at all."
- Another 3 % reported that teachers prepare "indifferently."
- About 5% suggested that teachers prepare "poorly" for their classes.
- Nearly 34.2 % respondents, approximately, found that teachers prepare "satisfactorily" for their classes.
- Lastly, around 55.6% of respondents stated that teachers prepare "thoroughly" for their classes.

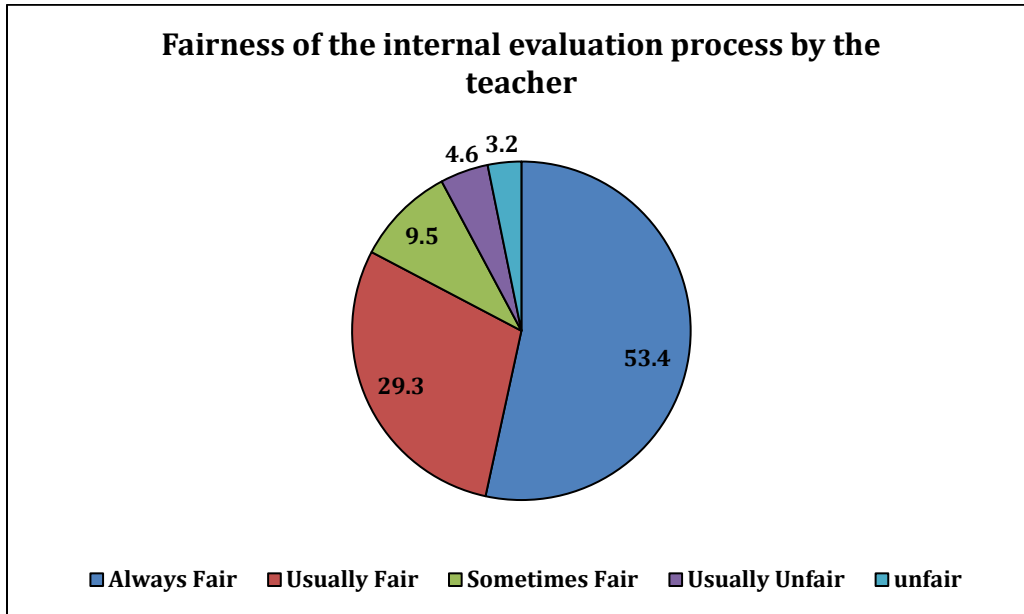

- Approximately 4% of respondents perceived teacher communication as "very poor."
- Another 5.2 % found teacher communication to be "generally ineffective."
- About 14.8% considered teacher communication to be "just satisfactory."
- A significant portion, approximately 17.9 %, felt that teacher communication was "sometimes effective."
- The largest proportion, around 58.1%, indicated that teachers were "always effective" in their communication.

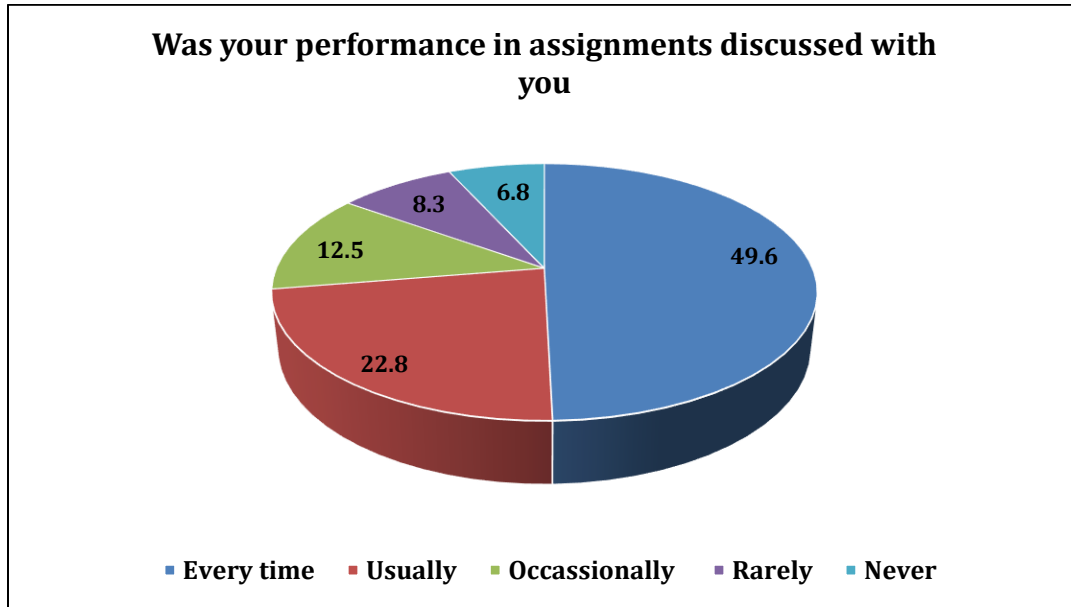

- Approximately 3% of respondents perceived teacher approach to teaching as " poor."
- Another 7.5% found teacher approach to teaching to be "Fair."
- About 17.2% considered teacher approach to teaching to be "Good."
- A significant portion, approximately 31.2%, felt that teacher approach to teaching was "Very Good."
- The largest proportion, around 41.1%, indicated that teachers were " Excellent " in their approach to teaching.

Only 46 responses consider teaching approach of teachers are poor.-Positive Comment

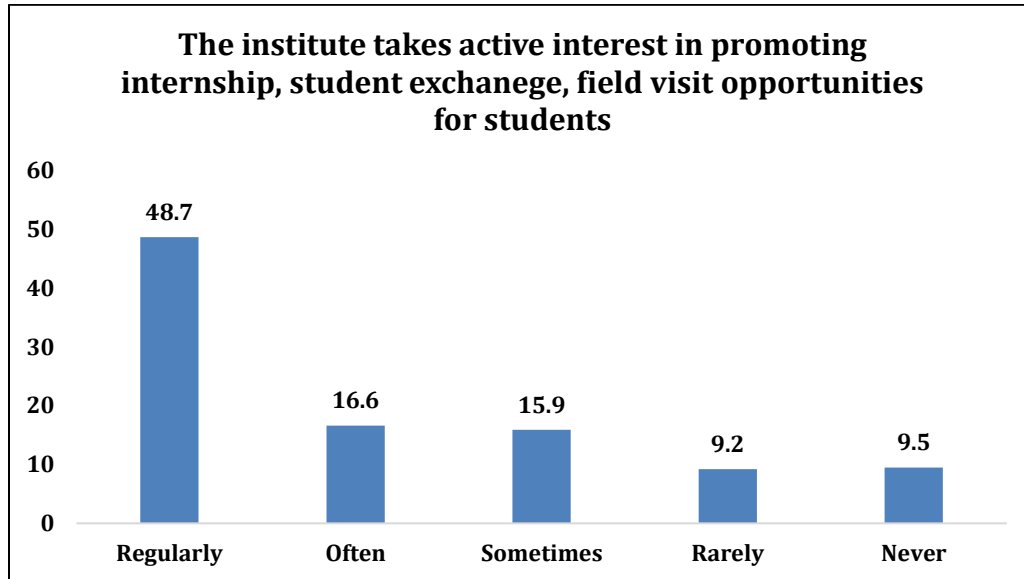

- Approximately 3.2% of respondents perceived teacher approach to internal evaluation as "Unfair."
- Another 4.6 % found teacher internal evaluation to teaching to be " Usually Unfair."
- About 9.5% considered teacher internal evaluation to be " Sometimes Unfair."
- A significant portion, approximately 29.3%, felt that teacher internal evaluation was "Usually Fair."
- The largest proportion, around 53.4%, indicated that teachers were " Always Fair " in their internal evaluation.

- Approximately 6.8 % of respondents commented that performance assignments were “Never” discussed.
- Another 8.3% found performance in assignments to be "Rarely" discussed.
- About 12.5% considered that performance in assignments is discussed “Occasionally/Sometimes”
- A significant portion, approximately 22.8%, felt that performance in assignments was "Usually." Discussed.
- The largest proportion, around 49.6%, indicated that " Every time" their performance in assignments is discussed.

This shows the quality of teachers and existence of interaction between teacher and student. This is the right step in Teaching Learning Method. This shows that teachers always try to improve the performance of students.

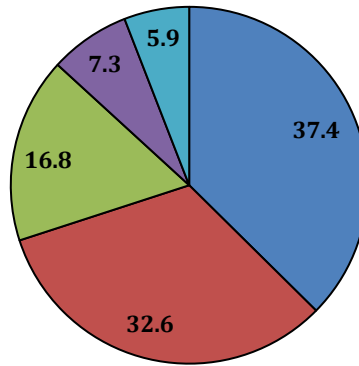

- Approximately 9.5% of respondents says that institute “Never” takes active interest in promoting internship, student exchange, field visit opportunities for students
- Another 9.2% perceived that institute “Rarely” takes active interest in promoting internship, student exchange, field visit opportunities for students.
- About 15.9% considered that institute “Occasionally/Sometimes” takes active interest in promoting internship, student exchange, field visit opportunities for students.
- A significant portion, approximately 16.8%, felt that institute “Often” takes active interest in promoting internship, student exchange, field visit opportunities for students
- The largest proportion, around 48.7%, indicated that the institute takes “Regular” interest in promoting internship, student exchange, field visit opportunities for students.

About 80% of the students are of the opinion that the institute should put more efforts to increase the internship opportunities in the college. We are working in this direction.

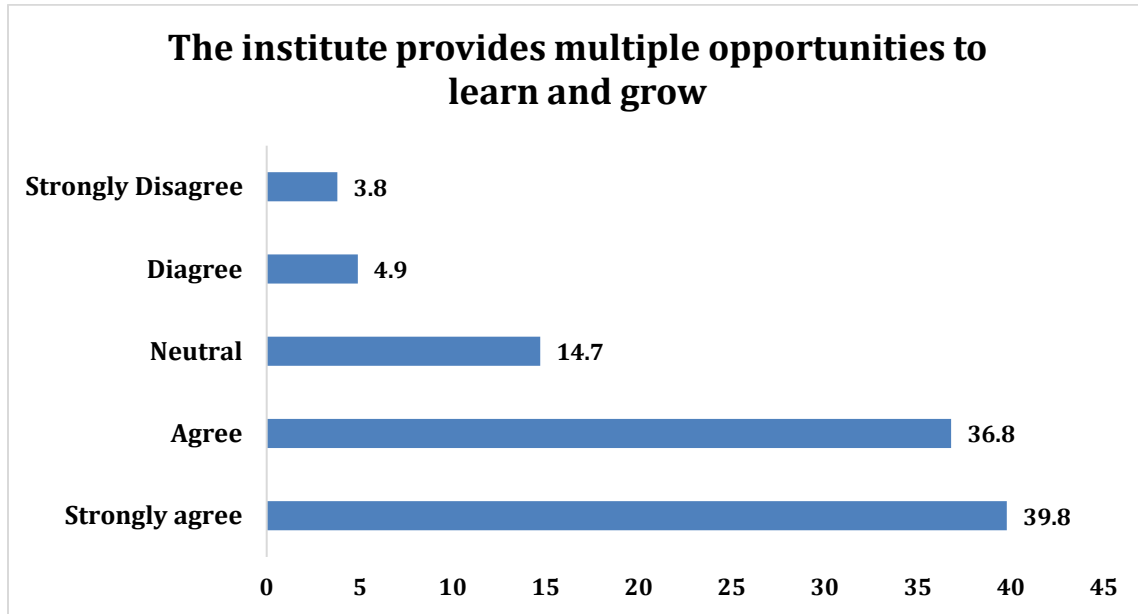

The teaching and mentoring process in your institution facilitates you in cognitive, social and emotional growth

■ Significantly ■ Very well ■ Moderately ■ Marginally ■ Not at all

- Approximately 7.3% of respondents perceived that teaching and mentoring process in institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth marginally.
- Another 5.9 % found perceived that teaching and mentoring process in institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth not at all.
- About 16.8% considered that teaching and mentoring process in institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth moderately.
- A significant portion, approximately 32.6 % are of the view that teaching and mentoring process in our institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth "Very Well."
- The largest proportion, around 37.4 %, indicated that teaching and mentoring process in our institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth "significantly".

In this response it appears that teaching and mentoring process in institution facilitates in cognitive, social, and emotional growth very significantly. Only 5.9% are not satisfied this means they are not regular students.

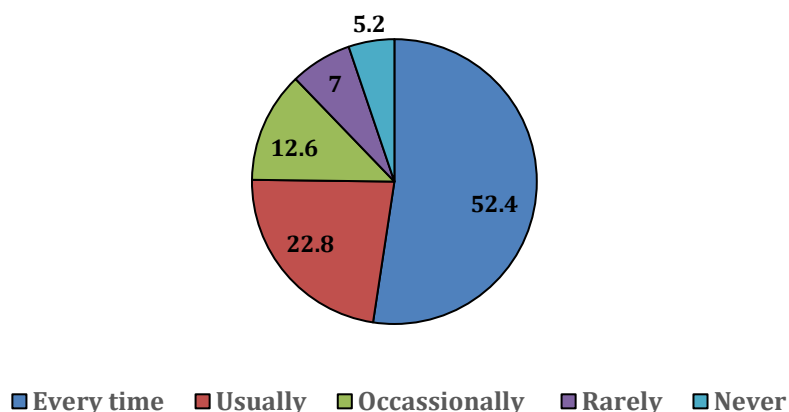

- A significant portion, approximately 36.8%, agree that institute provides multiple opportunities to learn and grow
- The largest proportion, around 39.8%, "Strongly agree" that institute provides multiple opportunities to learn and grow.

This shows that institute works for all round development of the students.

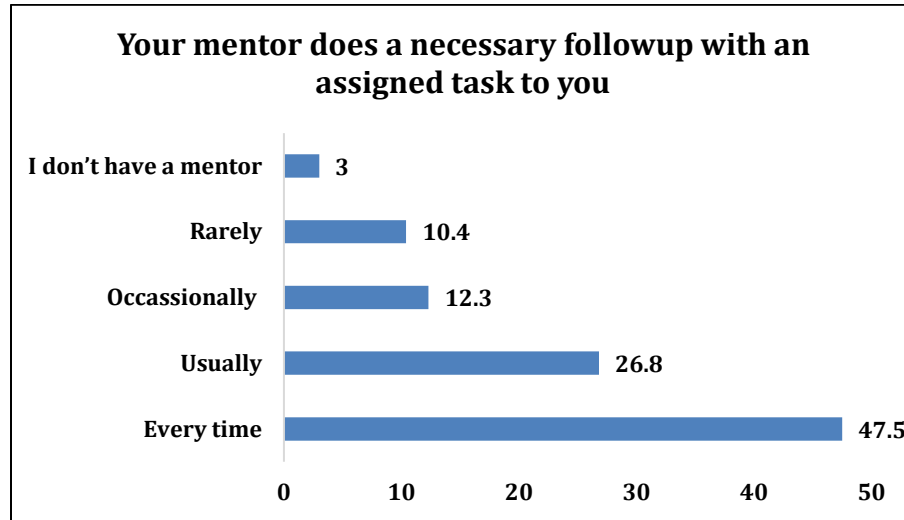

Teachers inform you about your expected competencies, course outcomes and programmes outcomes

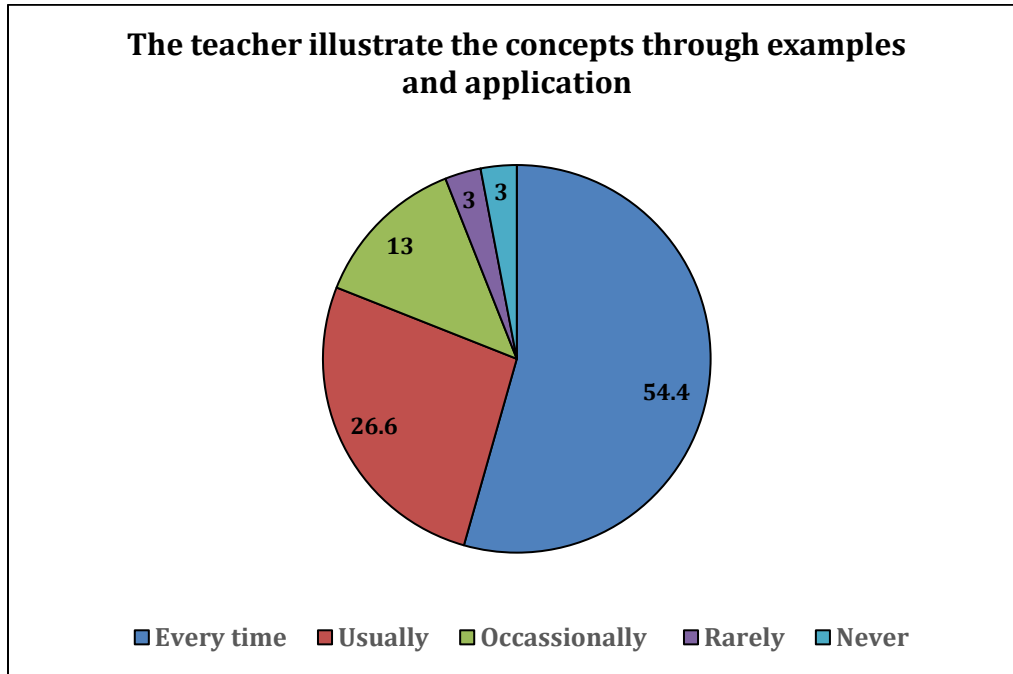

- Around 5.2% of respondents indicated that teachers "never" inform them about these aspects.
- Approximately 7% mentioned that teachers do so "rarely."
- About 12.6% reported that teachers inform them "occasionally" or "sometimes."
- Around 22.8% stated that teachers usually inform them about these aspects.
- The majority, approximately 52.4%, affirmed that teachers inform them "every time" about expected competencies, course outcomes, and program outcomes.

This shows that we all teachers are aware of expected competencies, course outcomes and program outcomes which is communicated to students as well.

- About 3% of respondents indicated that they "don't have a mentor."
- Approximately 10.4 % mentioned that mentors perform necessary follow-ups "rarely."
- Around 12.3% reported that mentors do so "occasionally" or "sometimes."
- Approximately 26.8% stated that mentors usually perform necessary follow-ups with assigned tasks.
- The largest portion, roughly 47.5%, affirmed that mentors follow up "every time" with assigned tasks.

Mentors follow up every time with the assigned task to students positively. Only 3% of the respondents commented that they do not have a mentor. This shows that they are not regular students.

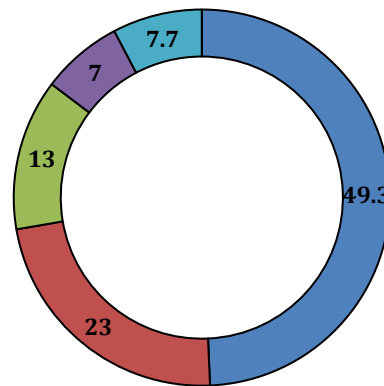

- Approximately 3% of respondents indicated that teachers "never" illustrate concepts through examples and applications.
- About another 3% mentioned that teachers do so "rarely."
- Around 13% reported that teachers illustrate concepts "occasionally" or "sometimes" through examples and applications.
- Approximately 26.6% stated that teachers usually illustrate concepts through examples and applications.
- The largest portion, roughly 54.4%, affirmed that teachers illustrate concepts "every time" through examples and applications.

These responses show that practical approach to teaching is adopted in our institution.

The teacher identify your strengths and encourage you with providing right level of challenges

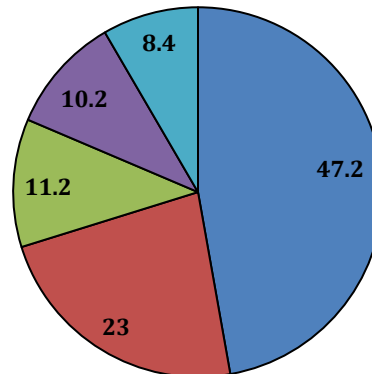

■ Fully ■ Reasonably ■ Partially ■ Slightly ■ Unable to

- Approximately 7.7% of respondents indicated that teachers are "unable to" identify their strengths and provide suitable challenges.
- About 7% mentioned that teachers do this "slightly."
- Around 13% reported that teachers do this "partially."
- Approximately 23% stated that teachers do this "reasonably" well.
- The largest portion, roughly 49.3%, affirmed that teachers do this "fully," meaning they effectively identify students' strengths and provide appropriate challenges accordingly.

It seems that 85% of students approach to faculty or mentors to know how to meet challenges. Only when students get connected teachers can identify their strengths. Teachers can identify their strengths and weaknesses and can help them accordingly.

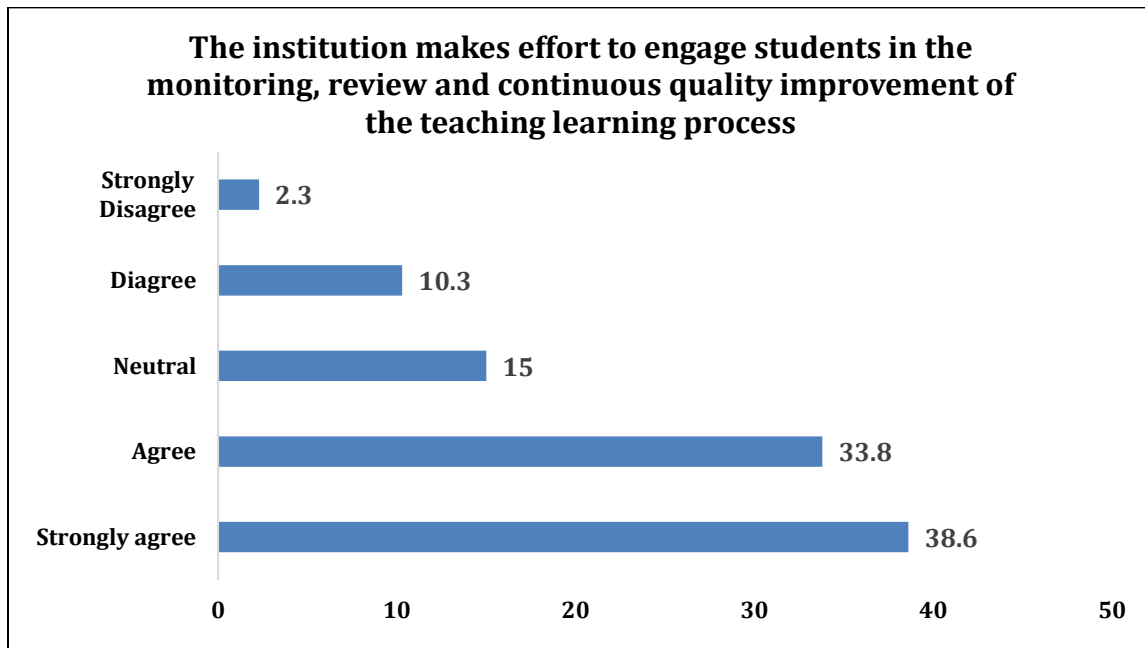

Teachers are able to identify your weakness and help you to overcome them

■ Every time ■ Usually ■ Occasionally ■ Rarely ■ Never

- About 8.4 % of respondents indicated that teachers "never" identify their weaknesses and help them to overcome these areas.
- Approximately 10.2% mentioned that teachers do this "rarely."
- Around 11.2% reported that teachers do this "occasionally" or "sometimes."
- Roughly 23% stated that teachers usually identify weaknesses and assist in overcoming them.
- The largest portion, approximately 47.2%, affirmed that teachers do this "every time," indicating a consistent effort in identifying weaknesses and aiding students in addressing them.

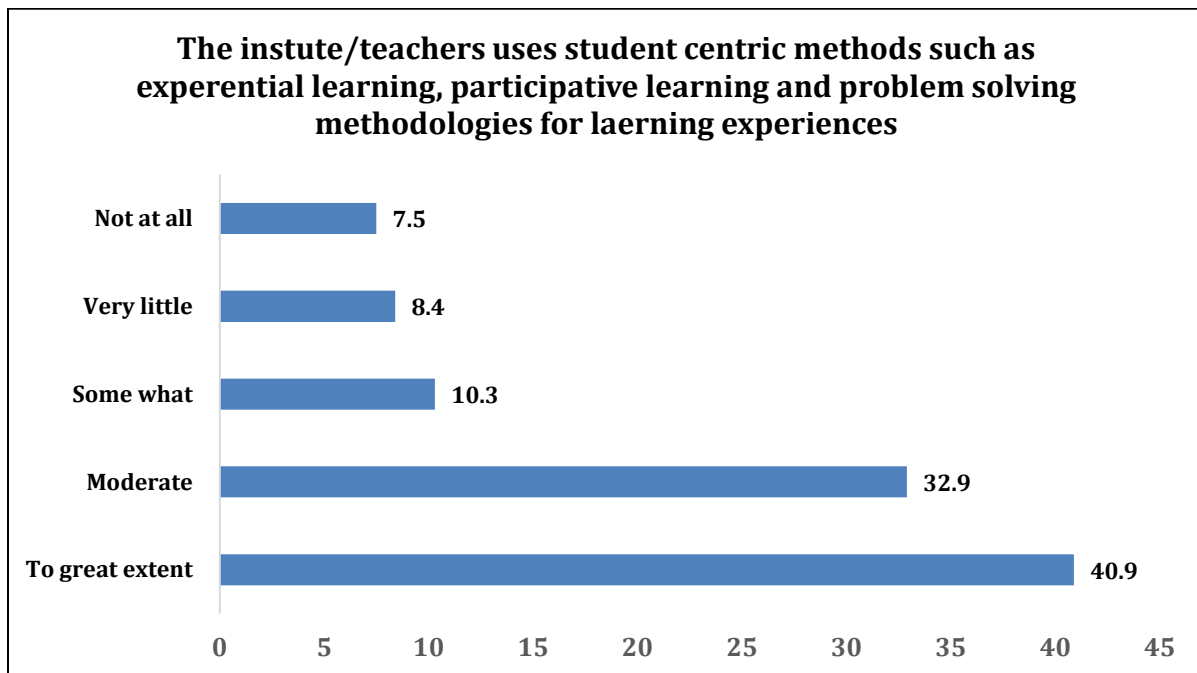

Majority of students agree that teachers identify their weaknesses and help them to overcome which shows our teachers are highly involved and interact with students regularly. An insignificant proportion of the students responded negatively about teachers' involvement and help. These may be such students who were not very regular in the class.

- About 2.3% of respondents "strongly disagree" that the institution engages students in this process.
- Approximately 10.3% "disagree" that the institution engages students in monitoring, review, and quality improvement.
- Around 15% maintained a "neutral" stance regarding the institution's engagement in this aspect.
- Roughly 33.8% "agree" that the institution involves students in monitoring, review, and continuous improvement.
- The largest portion, approximately 38.6%, "strongly agree" that the institution makes efforts to engage students in the monitoring, review, and continuous quality improvement of the teaching-learning process.

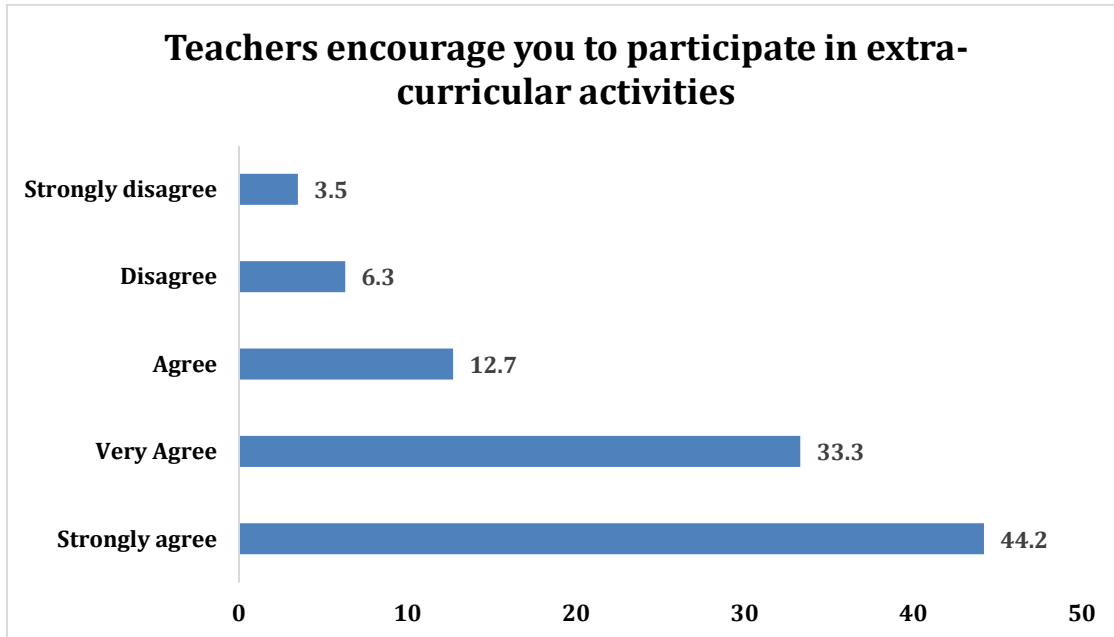

Majority of responses are of the view that institution is involved in students' monitoring, review, and quality improvement to improve Teaching Learning Process. This shows that we are using best practices to improve the same.

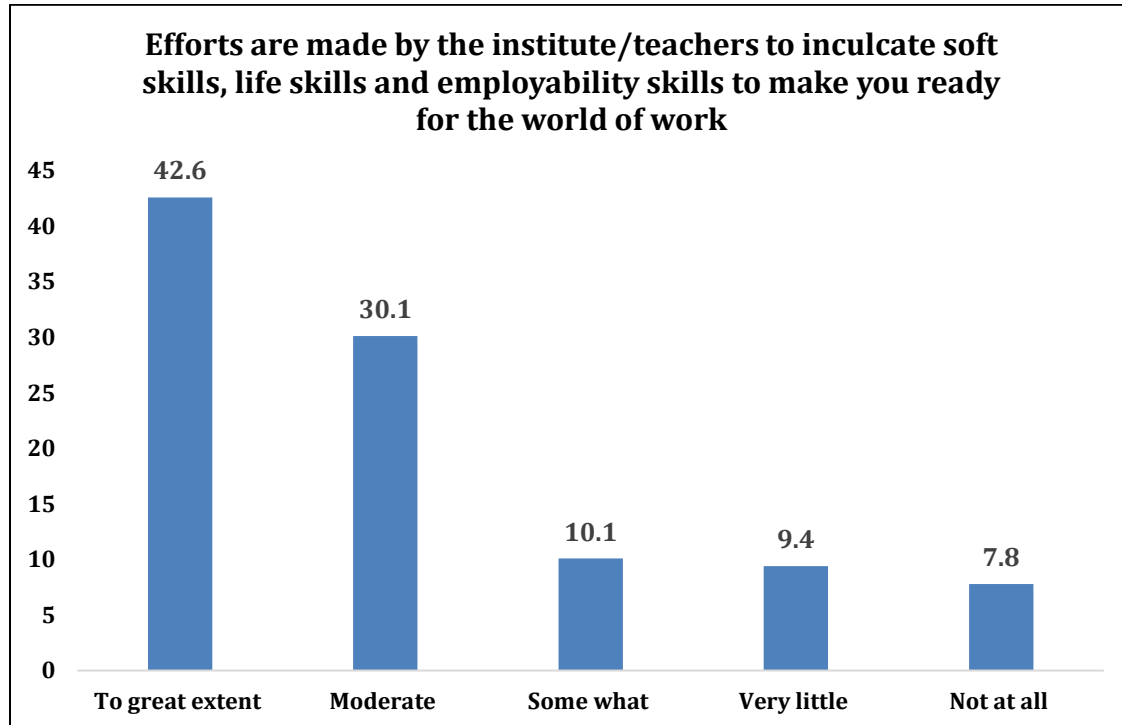

- Approximately 8.4% of respondents indicated that there is "very little" utilization of student-centric methods.
- Around 7.5% mentioned there is "very little" utilization as well.
- About 10.3% reported a perception of "somewhat" utilization of these methods.
- Roughly 32.9% stated that there is a "moderate" use of student-centric methods.
- The largest portion, approximately 40.9%, affirmed that student-centric methodologies are used "to a great extent" for enhancing learning experiences.

On the basis of analysis, we have to work more on the students' centric methods to enhance learning experiences. We are trying to augment Learner-centered teaching methods for example Active Learning, Cooperative learning, Experimental Learning, and Participative learning to shift the focus of activity from the teacher to the learners.

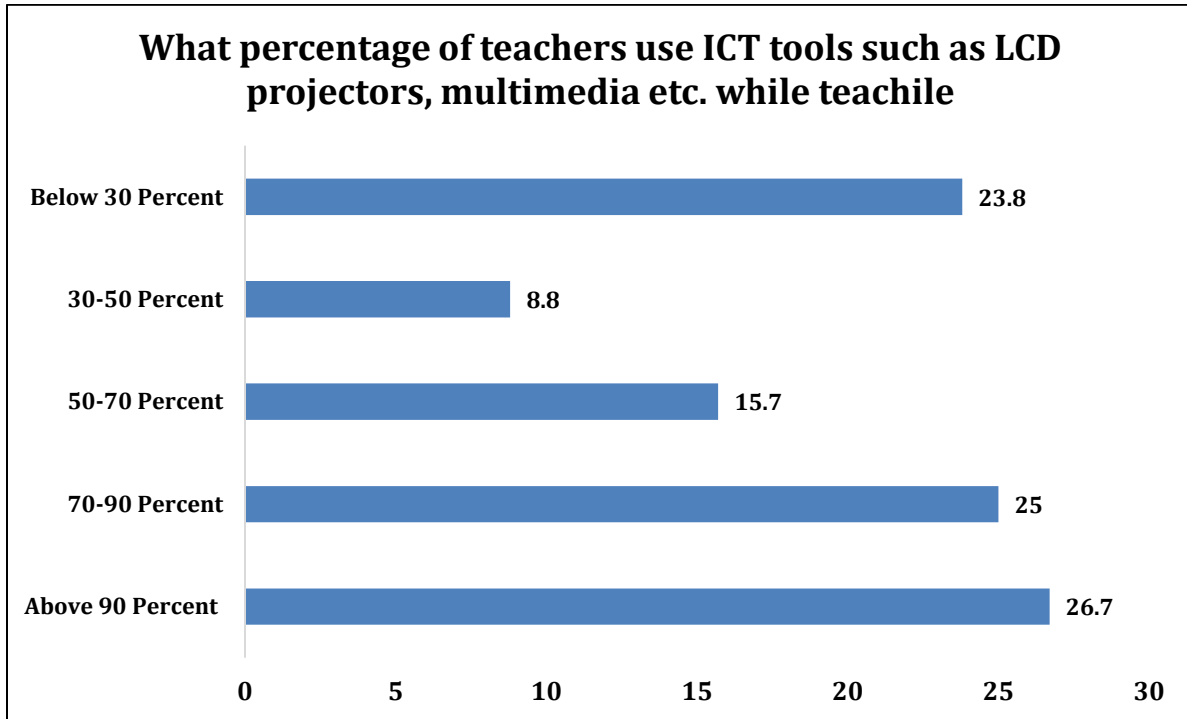

- About 12.7% expressed a neutral stance regarding teachers' encouragement to students to participate in extracurricular activities.
- A significant portion, approximately 33.3%, agreed that teachers encourage students to participate in extracurricular activities.
- The largest proportion, around 44.2%, strongly agreed that teachers actively engage and encourage students to participate in extracurricular activities.

This shows that Extra Curricular activities are a valuable investment in our institution. Students participating in extracurricular activities tend to have higher grades, better exam scores and more positive educational experiences in general. So, we are trying to work more in this respect to encourage students to participate in extracurricular activities.

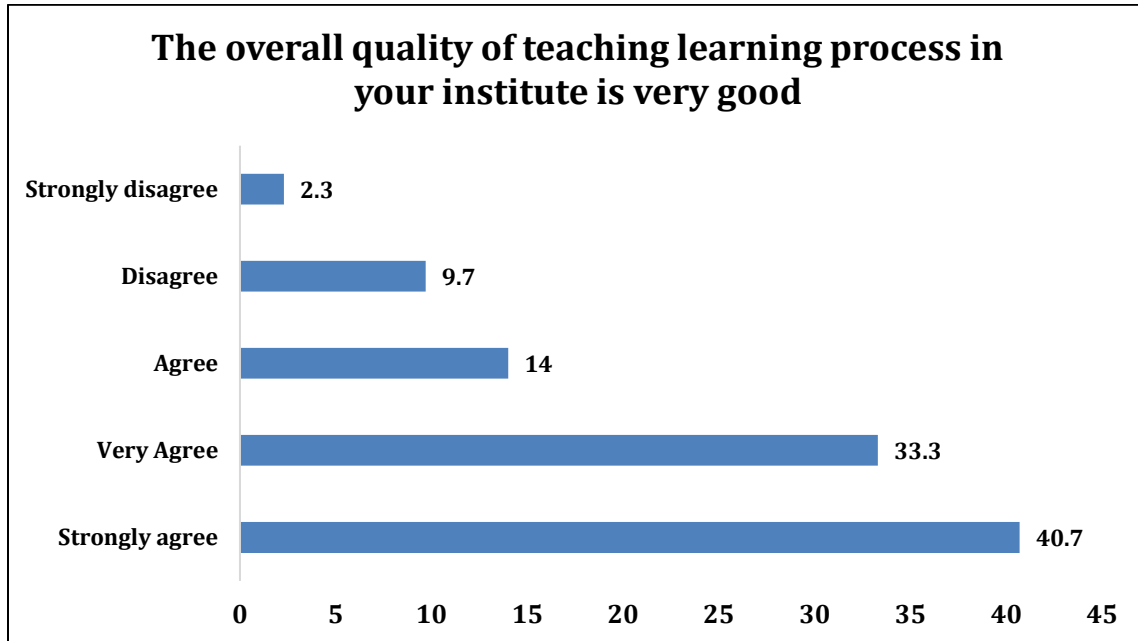

- Approximately 7.8 % of respondents perceived that efforts are not made to inculcate soft skills, life skills, and employability skills at all.
- Another 9.4 % found that teachers' efforts in this aspect are "very little."
- About 10.1% considered the efforts to be "somewhat" in inculcating these skills.
- A significant portion, approximately 30.1%, felt that the institute/teacher effort in this regard is "moderate."
- The largest proportion, around 42.6%, indicated that teachers were doing so "to a great extent" in terms of inculcating soft skills, life skills, and employability skills.

On the basis of responses, we are trying to organise more activities to inculcate soft skills, life skills and employability skills. Major proportion of responses are satisfied with the efforts of teachers.

- Approximately 23.8% of respondents indicated that the usage of ICT tools by teachers, such as LCD projectors and multimedia, was below 30%.
- About 8.8% suggested that the coverage ranged between 30% and 50%.
- Around 15.7% reported that the syllabus coverage fell within the range of 50% to 70%.
- Roughly 25% indicated that the coverage ranged between 70% and 90%.
- Finally, the largest portion, approximately 26.7%, indicated that teachers used ICT tools such as LCD projectors and multimedia at a level of 90%.

Majority of responses favour the statement that usage of ICT tools by teachers is always done whenever possible. Majority of departments are equipped with tools. And we are also working in this respect with the advent of new technology.

- Approximately 2.3% of respondents "Strongly disagree." With that teaching learning process is very good.
- Another 9.7% " Disagree." with the statement.
- About 14% responses are " Neutral." regarding the statement.
- A significant portion, approximately 33.3%, "Agree." with the statement.
- The largest proportion, around 40.7% "Strongly agree" with the statement that teaching-learning process is very good.

We are adopting methods like differentiated instruction, lecture-based instruction, technology-based learning, group learning, Inquiry based Learning and experiential learning which encourages creativity.
